Member of the month

Dr. Mcleod Frampton Gwynette is the head of Project Rex and the Autism News NetWORK. He is very supportive and is always coming up with ideas and people to interview.

Thanksgiving

What I'm thankful for is having a wonderful service dog like Oso. I am also thankful for having a loving and supportive family and I am also thankful for Amanda, my manager at my job. What are you thankful for?

Holidays approaching

Thanksgiving and Christmas are approaching rather quickly, and due to the virus, many gatherings have been cancelled. One way you can celebrate the holidays is on Zoom, which is like Skype. This way you can still keep in touch with family and friends during this holiday season. If you are having family over, be sure to wear masks and social distance. An example of social distancing is seating arrangements. If there are more than 4 chairs at the table, have the guests sit at every other chair. Another option is eating outside.

Holiday Festival of Lights

The Holiday Festival of Lights will be very different this year.

Due to the virus, there will not be any walking around, for fear of being exposed to it. this year, it will be a drive through. I am very sorry for anyone who was hoping to walk around.

Black Friday: Online vs in-person

Black Friday is the time to shop until you drop. Literally. Black Friday is when people go to stores across the continent and they buy whatever they want. For the in-person version, there are security guards at the stores because customers sometimes get a little crazy when there is only one item left on a shelf and they have to be the first one to get it. Black Friday is also very hectic. I wanted to go with my mom but she said no. It might be overstimulating for me.
